(Note: Groups must exist to use the following tools and features)

- I. Create a Forum with a topic for each group.
 - 1. Under "Discussions", click on "Group and Section Restrictions", and "Automatically create restricted topics":

Students will see this Forum and only their groups' topic.

- II. Creating a single topic with group restrictions, such that only the members of any particular group can see other group member postings (threads). This new topic can be added to an existing forum (a new forum would have to be created before this "group restricted" topic).
 - 1. Navigate to the Forum where the new topic will be added and click on the drop-down menu arrow. Select "Add Topic" from the menu:

Students will see this forum with this new topic and any other topic that has been created with group restrictions. However, they will only see postings from their fellow group members.

III. Applying group restrictions to an existing topic.

This is only for restricting a topic to select groups (usually just one) in a group category.

1. Navigate to the topic where you want to apply the group restrictions, click on the menu arrow for the topic, and select "Edit Topic":
